Multi-talented programmer who is constantly learning to succeed in planning and operational improvements with a keen interest in the design and development of cross-platform and full-stack applications.

I consider myself an analytical person who likes to understand complex problems using algorithms that help process large amounts of data to obtain a result that gives a solution.

Enthusiastic and eager to contribute to the success of the team through hard work, attention to detail, and excellent organizational skills. Clear understanding of FrontEnd and training in Microsoft Office, AdobePremier, AdobePhotoshop, Adobellustrator. Motivated to learn, grow and excel in the company.

Currently I have experience in Front end and Back end.

Throughout my career I dedicated myself to the design, development and implementation of information systems, as well as my two-year experience in the financial sector of Cryptocurrencies, StockMarket and Forexmarket in which I performed the task of technical market analyst and fundamental analyst for two retail investors.
